

ABOUT

Hello, I'm Tom. I'm a designer and have been freelancing since late 2017, shortly after leaving a full time role at a digital design agency, where I had been since 2012. Before this, I studied and later graduated from the Arts University Bournemouth with a BA (Hons) Graphic Design Degree and then went into a number of internships around various studios in London following that.

After over 6 years working within the industry I'm looking for a new opportunity. Somewhere I can experience new challenges and variety of work to further my skills and progress my career.
